

Kusuman THA 005-ENG

Story title	The Magic Spinning Wheel
Story-teller: Name	Thongsawad Ninchanbutr	Sex	M	Age	57
Recording time/date	February 15, 2018
Recording place	Phopaisan Subdistrict, Kusuman District, Sakon Nakhon Province
Length
Language(s) used	Thai
Data available	video	audio	picture	<input type="checkbox"/> notes	other ()
Topic/key words
Category
Once upon a time, there lived a little boy. His parents passed away so he had to live alone. Indra God felt sorry for the boy so gave him a magic spinning wheel. Spinning the wheel could produce salt. The little boy would produce salt with the wheel and share it with his neighbors and people living in nearby villages. Everyone thanked the boy. They admired and respected him. The rumor of the boy who could produce salt with the magic wheel and shared it with everyone reached a group of pirates. The pirates came to steal the magic spinning wheel and abducted the little boy. They took him on a ship and sailed away. The pirates ordered the little boy to tell the magic wheel to spin. And then they threw the little boy into the sea without learning how to stop the wheel. The magic wheel kept spinning, producing more and more salt, which piled up on the ship until it finally sank. The magic spinning wheel continued to produce more and more salt, until the sea water turned salty.					