Once upon a time, there was a grain of rice. It was as big as a coconut. One day, a widow wanted to eat rice. But the rice grain was very big. She didn't know how to eat it. She was so hungry that she brought a pestle to break the rice grain into pieces. The rice grain was completely broken into small pieces and scattered. Thereafter, villagers started to plant rice with the small pieces of grain the widow had broken. This is how a rice grain has become as small as we see these days.
